MANY NEAR DEATH IN FIRE AFTER EXPLOSION

Gasoline Stove in Koblitz Store on Third Street Causes $3.800 Loss

REHFUSS' HEROIC RESCUE OF MOTHER

Rushes Through Smoke and Flames and Carries Old Lady to Safety--Other Buildings Burned; Two Families Homeless.

An explosion of a gasoline stove in an awning store and fire of terrific intensity which followed, destroyed the establishment of A. A. Koblitz at 312 South Fourth street, damaged two other stores, burned out two families and all but caused the loss of one life within a period of 20 minutes this morning.

The disaster occurred about 10:30. The market square was covered with teams and men when suddenly a loud explosion startled the neighborhood. Instantly the big plate glass front of the Koblitz store tumbled out into the street, followed by two big puffs of black smoke which shot across the street and then enveloped the building. A fraction of a minute later the entire structure was ablaze, flames shooting into the air to a height of 20 feet.

There was a great commotion in the vicinity. A number of teams were only prevented from running away by the prompt attention of bystanders. Mr. Koblitz was standing out on the walk just a couple of feet to one side of his store front. He narrowly escaped being struck by the flying mass of debris as it shot out across the walk.

George Ritter turned in the alarm at Fourth and Jay streets. When central fire company arrived a minute later the entire structure was a mass of flames.

In the meantime members of families residing over the Koblitz and adjoining stores were rushing about frantically looking for other members of their families and endeavoring to save property in their homes.

Mrs. John Rehfuss heard the explosion and rushed down the back stairway, barely escaping from the building before the room in which she had been was turned into a seething mass of flames. She had no time to save anything.

Mr. Rehfuss ,learning that his wife was safe, shouted from the street for his mother, Mrs. Barbara Rehfuss, to come down the front stairway. Either she did not hear him or was dazed by the noise and smoke. Receiving no reply Mr. Rehfuss dashed through the smoke-filled stairway to the upper floor, opened the door of his mother's room, seized the old lady in his arms and groped his way back down the stairway. Both were grasping for breath when they struck the fresh air but soon recovered.

Attention of the firemen was directed toward saving adjoining structures at first and when these were safe all streams were turned into the burning structure.

The building was filled with canvas, bunting and other highly inflammable material, which burned with great rapidity. The heat was terrific in portions of the building and clouds of smoke threatened suffocation; nevertheless the firemen invaded the burning structure, a line of hose being run into nearly every window and door. The firemen literally fought their way to the blazing piles of canvas and section after section of the fire was drowned out.

Upstairs in the Rehfuss apartments and next door in the Huebner and Franz homes the same work was being done by other firemen. What burning material was not subdued was thrown from the windows into the street. It was a plucky battle fought by Chief Bradfield's men and won the admiration of hundreds of citizens who watched the fire from the street and market square. It was all over in half an hour, the lower part of the structure being gutted in that time and the dwelling apartments upstairs badly damaged.

Mr. Koblitz appeared to be dazed by his loss and could offer no explanation of the cause of the disaster. ThTe explosion of a gasoline stove in the rear of the store evidently caused the disaster.

The losses are estimated as follows:

A. A. Koblitzs, stock, $1,600.

John Rehfuss, building, $1,200.

John Rehfuss, household goods, $400.

Henry F. Runge, grocer, damage by smoke and water $200.

L. Huebner, saloon, $50.

Total estimated loss, $3,850.

Nearly all the loss is coveerd by insurance.

City a Loser Too.

The city of La Crosse loses all of its street decorations, they together with the city hall awnings being stored in the Koblitz establishment. The city's loss is about $300.

OLD FRIENDS MEET LOVE AND WED

Meeting accidentally hundreds of miles from their old home a pretty romance growing out of friendship thus engendered, culminated in the marriage of Miss Minnie Luedtke and Herman Butzke at eSattle November 1. The wedding was solemnized in the German Lutheran church of that city.

A pleasant feature of the ceremony was the attendance of two young people as groowsman and bridesmaid who were also formerly of La Crosse. They were Albert Buetzke and Eda Luedtke.

All of the principals have numerous friends and relatives in this city.

DEER HUNTING BEGINS FRIDAY

Friday at midnight the hunting of deer begins in Wisconsin and the open season will be on for the remainder of the present month. It will be lawful to kill deer Saturday, but they cannot be legally shipped until Sunday morning. The lawful killing of deer will cease with the final day of the month, but three days are allowed by law for the hunters to get their game home. All shipments must be accompanied by the owner and must be properly tagged to avoid confiscation as required by the laws governing the service of deputy game wardens.

There have been issued to date 319 small game licenses to non-residents of Wisconsin, costing $10 each.

COUNTY'S EXPENSES $50,000 MORE

New Court House Causes Enormous Increase in Amount to be Raised.

An increase of approximately $50,000 in the expenses of the county this year over last, is shown by the annual report of County Treasurer Roesler, just completed.

This enormous increase is caused almost entirely by the completion of the new court house. A large number of expensive extras not included in the regular court house contract, have been paid for out of the general fund. These include $12,000 for steel furniture, $5,000 for the clock system, about $7,000 to Architects Schick & Roth and other big items.

The increase is all shown up in one item, under the heading of "county orders." Last year the expenditures under this heading were $37,115.57, while this year the startling figure of $86,276.85 is recorded in the treasurer's report.

The summary of the treasurer's report this year is as follows:

Total receipts	$296,815.91

"DOPE" FOR LA CROSSE ADVERTISERS

La Crosse merchants prefer The Tribune. The most accurate test of advertising value is the judgment of advertisers who are on the ground. Last week we showed that The Leader-Press was unable to cope with The Tribune in local display advertising on Saturdays. By the following table we show that The Tribune lead by a substantial margin of almost 14 columns (2 pages) during the entire week ending Nov. 1, 1905:

Comparative table of local display advertising ofr week ending Sat. Oct. 4, 1905:

	Mon.	Tues.	Wed.	Thurs.	Fri.	Sat.	Total.
The Tribune	361	299	319	385	539	541	2,444
Leader-Press	244	359	341	378	300	549	2,171
Tribune's excess for week							273
Same reduced to columns							13.8
Same reduced to pages							1.97

Relative number of local display advertisers in two papers:

	Mon.	Tues.	Wed.	Thurs.	Fri.	Sat.	Total.
Tribune	39	45	43	46	45	56	274
Leader-Press	33	30	37	32	37	28	197
Tribune's majority							77

Last evening the excess of local display advertising carried by The Tribune over that of the Leader-Press was even more striking than in the previous week. The measurements showed the following results:

	Local Display.
The Tribune	381 inches
Leader-Press	270 inches
Tribune's majority	111 inches
Reduced to columns	5 11-20

Do you merchants remember that when The Tribune started The Leader-Press management gave it 90 days to die in, and that the Leader-Press said it "would get our equipment cheap?" Does it look as though the Tribune was being "put out of business?" Is it not already the leading daily of La Crosse? Where will you advertise to get results?

Nic Bryer Dies at Arcadia

Word was received here today by relatives that Nic. Bryer, a well known old resident of Arcadia, died this morning after a short illness. He has a number of relatives in the city, including both branches of the Roth family.

The funeral will be held Thursday morning and it is probable that a number from this city will attend.

WOMAN DROWNS SELF

Mrs. Isidor Jezewiski of Winona, about 30 years of age, committed suicide yesterday afternoon about 1:30 o'clock by drowning herself in the river at the foot of Laird street which is between the Laird-Norton and Empire lumber yards.

Men working in the yards at the mills went to the scene at once and she was gotten out of the water. County Coroner Muir was summoned and pronounced the cause of death as intent for suicide.

Mrs. Jezewski had just returned a few days ago from the asylum for insane at Rochester to which she was committed some time ago.

BLOOD FLOWS IN KY. AND PHILADELPHIA TODAY

Republican Wards in Quaker City are Scenes of Rioting--Kentuckian Murders Son at Poll.

(Scripps-McRae Dispatch.)

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7.—Two murders already and two hundred prisoners in cells held in communicado early this morning is the beginning of what promises to be the bloodiest election day in the history of Philadelphia.

All information in regard to the murders and arrests is denied at the city hall. Sheriff Mills swore in no deputies and left the protection of the city to the mayor. City party leaders are condemning the actions of the special police sworn in by the mayor of about a thousand.

Arrests at Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7.—Harbar Master Samuel G. Maloney, Magistrate James Fealey and ex-Lieutenant of Police James Carey, republican leaders, have been arrested. Their friends are unable to learn where they have been taken. So far a dozen polling places have been closed. Election officers have appealed to the courts for protection. In one place the booths were wrecked. All disorder in wards where the republicans are conceded to be in the majority. When riot calls are turned in the police appear and arrest everyone at the polls.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—There was a heavy pole contest early. It is an ideal day and probably at least 630,000 out of the 647,000 registered, voted early this morning. All is quiet and free from disturbances. A policeman was the first one arrested for violation of the election laws. In one precinct on the Bowery 99 votes were cast in the first twenty minutes. Eight thousand police are on duty. The betting is 2 to 1 on McClellan and Jerome.

Bullets at Louisville.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 7.—At one of the voting precincts at noone Dr. Bullitt shot his son George and Col. George E. Reyburn. He was badly beaten. TThey were members of the fusion party. It is reported a general fight is in progress.

President Votes.

OYSTER BAY, Nov. 7.—The president came home to vote today. Neighbors gathered at the station to greet him. He was met by a carriage from Sagamore Hill and taken to the polling place two bolcks away. He grasped the hands of several friends and went in and voted. Secretary Loeb came down and voted in another precinct. The trip was made from Washington without special incident. They were met at Long Island City by Ellen Roosevelt and daughter Christine, who accompanied the president to Oyster Bay and remained with him until he started back for Washington, which he did at 9:21.

"WHITE BEAVER" IS BETTER TODAY

Former Mayor Slightly Improved and May Recover.

Dr. George Powell received another telegram from Cody, Wyoming, this morning, stating that the condition of Dr. D. F. Powell (White Beaver), who was stricken with heart trouble of a serious nature, was slightly improved but still uncertain.

Dr. Powell said today that his brother had never been ill a day in his life, having a splendid physique and ruddy constitution, and therefore the announcement of his being stricken came as a great shock.

OSHKOSH—D. W. Fernandez, president of the board of education; Prof. B. Mack of the normal faculty, and C. M. Perry have been appointed as local examiners of the state civil service commission of the First assembly district.

CUNNINGHAM ARRESTED AND FREED

Andrew Cunningham, the postoffice robber who escaped from the La Crosse county jail a short time after Homer Trainor, his companion in crime, got away and for which misfortune Turnkey J. M. Childers is serving a term at the Milwaukee house of correction, has been heard from, but he is still at liberty.

Local officers have received a copy of the November issue of The Detective, the official journal of the police authorities and sheriffs of the United States, in which the pictures of numerous crooks are published every month. In looking over this rogues' photograph gallery their attention was at once attracted by the familiar features of the fellow who when under arrest here gave the name of Cunningham. He wore the same style of derby hat and was dressed in much the same manner as when he was captured in Winona.

The worst part of the information concerning the fellow was that he had been jailed for only a short period and had consequently been released before this time, so that he could not be held to be brought back to La Crosse to answer for his misdeeds in this territory. It seems that at Trenton he gave the name of Patsy Flannigan. The Detective in using his picture, publishes a letter from Chief of Police Judson Hiner of Trenton, in which he says:

"I enclose a photo of Patsy Flannigan, and would say that he was picked up September 27 at the Inter-state fair by our Detective John J. Clancy and Detective Sergeant John T. Reith of the New York city detective bureau. He was given a hearing and committed for ten days. He is thirty-two years old, five feet, five and a quarter inches tall, weighs a hundred and fifty-two pounds, has dark hair and gray eyes and is of stout built. He was previously sentenced from Yonkers, N. Y., to eleven years at Sing Sing prison."

SOME REMARKABLE FEATS IN BARREL JUMPING

ROSE AND ELLIS AT THE BIJOU

One of the most remarkable exhibitions produced on the stage was presented at the Bijou last night by Rose jumpers. Without doubt this is the feature of the excellent program which was presented last night. There is presented in this act the only lady clown in the world.

Next in excellence is the wonderful electrical picture representing "Arabian Knights." This picture is one of the finest which has ever been seen here. The spectacle is gorgeous in every particular and is an exact reproduction of the spectacular play which it cost thousands of dollars to produce.

"The Whole Bibbs Family" solves the family question. It serves to instruct wives and husbands how to control their "other half" in proper shape and is filled with light comedy which makes the playet a very bright production. There are four people in the caste.

Felice Alexander, the captuvating little soubrette is a remarkable dancer and at once take full possession of the hearts of her audience. Her singing is also clever.

Matrimonial Sweets in Family Jars," by Joe Byron and May Blanch depicts another form of matrimonial existance which is altogether funny. The husband comes home with a big jag and proceeds forthwith to "tame" his wife who is especially handy with the talk.

The illustrated song, "I'm Longing for You," is a child poem and is a very pleasing and tuneful piece.

The theatre was croded to the doors at both performances last night.

NORMANNA'S CONCERT A SUCCESS

Members of the Normanna saengerkor are well pleased over the success of their concert at Germania hall Friday evening. Nearly 700 people were present and enjoyed one of the best concert programs ever arranged for a local audience.

The Normanna naturally occupied the central place in the program and the vocal selections rendered by the society showed careful training and considerable artistic ability.

The Frohsinn and Maennerchor societies likewise rendered several pleasing selections. Prof. Tippman and scholars took a prominent part in the entertainment.

Mrs. Lawson, as the soloist of the evening acquitted herself in her usual admirable manner and Prof. Charles Weiss made a delightful accompanist. Mr. Forsyth's recitation was favorably received.

Considerable credit for the success of the concert is due Mr. Dahl, who arranged the program, and it is proble that he will be called upon again for a repetition of the affair in the near future.

GRAFTERS WITH A PATENT FEED COOKER

Farmers in this vicinity are warned to be on the lookout for a couple of smooth grafters who have been victimizing parties in the western part of the state. The grafters have been operating in nearby counties and they may be heading this way. Their graft is a smooth one and would catch the average man.

One of the operators goes to a farm house with a patent feed cooker, and insists on putting it up and cooking some feed for the hogs or cattle. The cooker is really very meritorious, and the farmer is generally impressed with it. An attempt is then made to to sell him the sole rights for his county. This of course, invariably causes a balk in the business and the victim begins to look suspicious on the enterprise.

The first offer made to the farmer victimized at several places, was $50, and he refused to have anything to do with it. The agent then came down to $45 and later to $40.

Finally, apparently giving up the matter, the agent asks permission to leave the cooker for a day and departs. The following day another man arrives at the house, and getting the farmer out, says: "Say, I understand you have purchased the right to sell a feed cooker in this county. I will give you 075 for that right." This is said in a breathless, eager manner, and at the same time the fellow pulls a roll of money out of his pocket as if ready to hand over the amount at once.

The natural result is that the farmer, seeing a chance to make some easy money on his own score, and putting the fellow off, makes an appointment for a day or two later.

The following morning the first fellow drives into the yard, and without ceremony starts to load the cooker into the rig. The farmer goes out, and after the usual greetings, states that he has about decided to take the right after all, and in one instance in one of the neighboring counties actually paid over the money and closed the deal.

The rest of the story is easily to be guessed. The second party failed to make his appointment and the farmer still has the right to sell his cooker, which it is thought is not even patented, as there was no mark on it to indicate it.

It is understood that the same deal is being worked in other states.

MAHONEY TELLS THE COUNTY BOARD A FEW THINGS.

City Attorney Mahoney has sent an open letter to city members of the county board calculated to influence them in the stand they take on the apportionment of taxes at the board meeting next week.

Mr. Mahoney explains in his letter why the council demands the withdrawal of $8,000 city aid to the county roads. The highways leading to the city do not get the money, he says, but a larger portion of it is used in making improvements on roads in obscure sections of the county, where it does the city no good.

Going further he charges that the election of J. E. Keizer as supervisor of assessments was illegal inasmuch as he was a member of the county board at the time of his election.

The meeting for the organization of the north side bowling league will be held in Breuer's hall on Mill street tonight.

LINE TO KENOSHA DONE SATURDAY

KENOSHA, Wis., Nov. 7.—By the end of the week the old plan of an electrict railway between Milwaukee and Chicago will have been realized. The workmen of the Chicago and Milwaukee Railway company yesterday morning began the work of laying the last section of track between Kenosha and Zion City.

Less than a mile of track remains to b laid and the grading has all been completed.

It is announced that the track will be completed on next Saturday night and that the line will be opened for traffic on Dec. 1. While it is the purpose of the Chicago and Milwaukee company to extend the line directly from Kenosha to Milwaukee, it is not thought that track will be laid north of Kenosha during the present year.

MAD DOG CREATES TERROR IN CITY

A mad dog belonging to August Swenson of 1513 South Ninth street created a reign of terror in the southern end of the city yesterday. Foaming at the mouth the crazy animal ran down the street toward the city limits, biting every dog it saw. Pursued by a posse which was hastily organized the animal was finally dispatched about two blocks this side of Boulevard hall. The posse then returned and killed all the dogs that had been bitten, fearing hydrophobia would develop in them.

The owners of the dogs that were killed as the result of the mad dog running wild are:

Frank W. Herlitzke, 1026 Jackson street.

Mrs. H. Stellick, 2108 Michel.

Theodore Schwertfeger, 2108 Michel.

Peter Ferguson, constable and leader of the posse, 2303 Michel.

Albert Brann, 2203 Michel, two dogs.

In addition to the dogs killed, Herman Jaekel, 920 Redfield street, lost eight chickens which were killed.

TO MERCHANT ADVERTISERS.

It is of importance to every merchant in this city that he know as nearly as possible the relative circulations of the newspapers in which he advertises.

So far as the city is concerned, the most practical way of determining circulation is by a canvass of the entire city. This will eliminate the possibility of "padding."

We therefore make this offer to the La Crosse Retail Merchants' Association:

The Tribune will contribute to the Merchants' Association one-third (1-3) the expense of such a canvass, upon the following conditions:

A committee to have charge of the canvass shall be chosen at a regular meeting of the association, said committee to be elected, and not appointed by the chair.

The fact that said committee is to be elected shall be advertised in the daily papers at least one week prior to said meeting.

Said committee shall employ canvassers to make a systematic canvass of the city, and said canvassers shall report by blocks the exact number of subscribers each paper has in each and every block in the city.

Canvassers shall also make inquiry of subscribers as to whether they have ordered any papers coming to their homes, whether they read them, and expect to pay for them, and whether they have ordered any papers stopped that continue to come to their homes, and whether any such papers are "sample copies," or are delivered on approval.

Of course the Leader-Press and The Chronicle will agree to defray one-third each of this expense, so there should be no delay in causing the canvass to be made. Or perhaps they will decline, "for business reasons."

DEFIANCE

"We will not reduce the price of gas until there is a competing gas plant in La Crosse."

PHILO M. GELATT, (On a Street Car)
Sec. La Crosse Gas & Electric Co.

ourously set forth. In reading it, it is well to remember that the new party polled 6,000 votes at the last election, and that a gain of 4,000 will mean victory. This the leaders hope to accomplish, but it seems probable, on the eve of election, that the saints of Joseph will pull the strings hard enough to carry the day. The Tribune says:

"The issues in this municipal campaign are so plain and unmistakable that no one can fail to understand them.

"First and foremost, comes the proposition to redeem the city from the grasp of the relentless, unscrupulous, greedy ecclesiates, who hold both the 'republican' and the 'democratic' party in leash, at their direction and command at all times.

"Is a 'republican' set of officials elected? The ecclesiasts tell them what must be done and what the church requires. The expected to yield about so much revenues out of the public money to the tithes fund and the multitudinous forms of 'bleeding' (to use Elder Rich's expressive phrase) year by year.

"Is a 'democratic' set put in? It is the same thing to the church leaders. They demand their graft just the same—and get it.

"This is, of course, a public scandal. But the 'republican' convention in this city, which apparently put in nomination the ticket which bears that name, howled down a resolution that declared against this graft upon the public funds. And in the 'democratic' convention, no one even had the hardihood to object to this odious graft and grab.

"We say 'apparently' in referring to the nominations that resulted from the session of the 'republican' convention. And it was apparently only that the conventions nominated, save only in one case. In every other, the nominations had been slated under the ecclesiastic eye.

"It was the same in the 'democratic' convention, save only that in it there was no exception whatever; the ecclesiastical slate went through not only without a crack, but with no serious attempt to crack it.

"Thus, the nominations of these so-called parties are mere tenses. The ecclesiasts will later on make known to their people their will with respect to electing chosen candidates upon each ticket. In the First ward, the process of selection, so far as councilmanic candidate are concerned, is said to have already been made."

WHY NOT HEARST?

Because of things said about him that if true reflect upon his personal habits, of his youth at least, people have come to regard with disapproval the candidacy of William R. Hearst for public office. He sought the presidential nomination, and sought it with his money. He was hopelessly beaten.

But it isn't any worse for Mr. Hearst to use money to secure office than for others to do so; and there has come to light evidence that Mr. Parker used money and that President Roosevelt used money. Anyway, we all know that every man who seeks office and who has money or can beg money, uses it. It certainly is no worse for Mr. Hearst to use his own money in politics than for others to extort it by the big stick blackmail from trusts and monopolies who at least "presume" they will be accorded licenses to rob in return.

Mr. Hearst has not become tangled with corporations. He is not a member of the Tammany machine, and we candidly confess that as between him and The Tiger, we would like to see him win. He could be no worse than the others, and he might deal out to the wolves of New York the treatment they have so long richly deserved and which they have so far escaped.

What would Hearst do if elected? Heaven only knows, but as he is to be a perennial candidate for something, we might as well try him on New York, where he can do no worse than the average. He might prove, after all, to be an effective official.

THE MORMONS IN POLITICS.

Mr. Burt Jarvis, who has just returned from Salt Lake City, has acquired some interesting information regarding the fight being made by the New American Party of Utah, against Mormon church domination of politics for purposes of grafting. We have in preparation an article the facts for which Mr. Jarvis has furnished. It is not ready for today's issue, but as this is election day, the material is so timely that we have decided to anticipate by publishing an editorial from The Salt Lake Tribune, the organ of the American party, in which local conditions are vig-

JUST LIFE

TRUE STORY OF LIZZIE.

What She Did and What She Did Not Do, Told Without "the Yellow."

A year ago Lizzie Bachman, the sixteen-year-old girl now awaiting trial for being a bad girl, was permitted to appear at the Bijou theatre amateur night. Lizzie is a silly girl—she was silly then. She thought the laughs which came from the audience applause. She wanted to appear again. She appeared several times. Her parents complained and she was not permitted to take part in amateur performances since. That was a year ago.

Lizzie was as wayward as she was silly so she decided not to stay at home, but to go into the gay world where there were congenial "fellows", brilliant lights and gay music.

She had no place to go.

The kind of "fellows" she found were not the sort Lizzie liked the best. They had no diamonds, and very little money, but they were the only ones available, so Lizzie chummed with them. She spent considerable time hanging about a restaurant north of Main street where queer Chinese dishes are a specialty. There were several nice "fellows" there.

But Lizzie couldn't stay there all the time, so she wandered the streets at night. One of the "fellows" wandered about with her. The nights were cold so they sought a resting place in a dark stairway where a detective for a local agency found them sleeping. He notified the police and silly little Lizzie and her "fellow" were told to move on. They walked the streets, hanging about depots until dawn. Morning found them in another restaurant. The police also found them there, and they were taken to the police station.

Lizzie—poor, silly little Lizzie who had longed for the gay world and for gay companions—is in jail.

She is in jail because she stumbled where the roads divide. She groped blindly for the rainbow of fame and fortune and she fell a torn and pitiable little creature among the thorns. Stronger girls have stumbled farther than Lizzie—some are still plodding the way, but Lizzie was a very frail, foolish little girl.

But she is sorry. Her mother is sorry and lenient.

So they will lead silly little Lizzie back to where the roads divide.

Lizzie says she will choose the better way.

GREETS CHILDREN WHEN QUARINTINE IS RAISED.

A somewhat interesting story is connected with the happy reunion of Mr. Donovan and his three children last evening after he had been without a home for three weeks.

Mr. Donovan is employed at the Novelty Wood works and as his home is near by his little children could see him many times a day as he was oblibed to drive past the house at times and when at the barn they could look out of the window and see him and wonder "Why papa don't come home." The meeting last evening was a very joyful one.

"THE CROSSING" TOMORROW NIGHT

Every reader of books in the city is familiar with Winston Churchill's best historical novel, The Crossing, and Mr. Churchhill himself and Louis Evans Shipman, who dramatized The Crisis and wrote D'Arcy of the Guards, two of the greatest successes on the American stage, have made it into a play that will be seen here at La Crosse theatre Wednesday, Nov. 8. The Crossing is duplicating everywhere the hits made by the other plays by the same authors.

In many respects The Crossing is to be the dramatic event of the year. Winston Churchill himself is coming on from his home in Vermont and will be royally entertained by friends during his stay here. He has not yet seen his latest book play on the stage, being abroad when the piece was first produced, and he will get his first glimpse of his most successful offering and greatest money getter in this city.

In the Crossing Mr. Churhill has given theatre goers a piece of rare strength and one that abounds with thorilling situations just as the book did. The comedy is bright and sparkling and the love scenes are dainty and the whole play moves along swiftly and smoothly.

The company is one of the best that has been sent out of New York in years. The cast is headed by Mr. John Blair who will be seen in the leading role of Wick Temple who goes to New Orleans in search of his lost mother and who finds not only her but a sweetheart, too, but not without many adventures and narrow escapes. The action of the play takes place in the southern city late in the eighteenth century when that part of the country was ruled by the Spanish but inhabited mostly by Frenchmen.

THE GAY LADY TEASEL

The part of the gay Lady Teazle—that polite flirt of Sheridan's master comedy, "School for Scandal," undoubtedly fits Grace Van Studdiford's strange deep personality to perfection, and the noted beauty, radiant as the picturesque queen of the old time smart set, must be truly good to look upon. Of course, the character in this instance is of a musical type rather than the straight comedy as we have seen it interpreted by Mrs. Langtry, Ada Rehan and other actresses, for the forthcoming "School for Scandal" story is in comic opera form. The musical version is named after the leading character in the famous old Sheridan comedy—"Lady Teazle"—and it is the work of A. Baldwin Sloane and John Kendrick Bangs. Miss Van Studdiford will appear in this city Saturday, Nov. 11th, under the direction of S. S. and Lee Shubert, who are said to have given the renowned beauty and singer the advantage of appearing with the largest number of supporting players ever afforded a comic opera star—over one hundred in all. "Lady Teazle" ran three months at the New York Casino, the Messrs. Shubert's fashionable Broadway playhouse, and has record engagements in Boston and Chicago to its credit.

HE CRIES CRIME AT SPOT WHERE HE SLEW BROTHER

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Overcome by remorse, William Cody, twenty-two years old, of No. 339 Broadway, Williamsburg, went to the spot where his brother James three weeks ago was mysteriously murdered and confessed that he was a fratricide.

To Captain Pinkerton of the Bedford avenue police station, Cody coolly admitted later that he and his brother had left their home to begin a life of crime and that their brief career as highwaymen and cracksmen had been ended by a quarrel in which one was killed.

Two civilians heard a pistol shot at Drigg avenue and North Eighth street the night of October 14 and ran up in time to see a man running away. Lying on the pavement was a plainly dressed young man about twenty-four years old. He was dead before the arrival of an ambulance. A bullet had pierced his heart. Nothing was found to establish his identity and the body was buried in the Potter's Field.

Policeman Lloyd, of the Bedford avenue station, on duty at Driggs avenu and North Eighth street, early yesterday saw a plainly dressed young man wander past him to the opposite corner. Scanning the sidewalk, where the young man had fallen on October 14, he said aloud:

"I killed my brother. Oh, why did I kill him." Lloyd took the man to the Bedford avenue station.

'Here's a man who says he killed somebody," he said as he presented his prisoner.

Captain Pinkerton questioned the man, who said he was William Cody and told his story, but the captain decided to wait until he recovered from his excited condition. To Magistrate Furlong, in the Gates avenue police court, Cody repeated his strange tale and was remanded.

After several hours in a cell he began to sob and asked for Captain Pinkerton, to whom he said:

"My name is not Cody, but Kooey —Peter Kooey. My mother is dead, but my father and my sister keep house in Greenpoint. Several weeks ago my brother and I decided to go away together and steal for a living. In order not to disgrace the family we assumed the name of Cody.

"On the night of the shooting my brother and I had planned to hold up a barkeeper in a saloon in North Fourth street. When we reached the saloon there were several men in the place, so we couldn't carry out our plan. We went up North Seventh street to turn a 'trick' at North Seventh and Driggs avenue, but quarrelled. When we got to North Eighth street, where I wanted to get another drink, my brother pulled out a gun and we had a scuffle. It went off and he was killed. I picked up the revolver and ran away. A few days later I met my father and told him Jim had been hurt and had been in a hospital, but had been discharged."

In a small box found in the prisoner's pocket was an entry, "October 14, 1905." That was the day of the shooting.
